FILTERS AND SALT:

It is that time of year again . . . time to think about preparing for/responding to our winter weather. If anyone needs additional salt for sidewalks, driveways, etc., it is available in buckets on the front porch at the Community Center. Furnace filters are available in the Community Center and can be found on a wooden shelf in the storeroom across the hall from the kitchen.

Venite a mangiare! (Come and Eat!) It's time for our February gathering where we will enjoy Italian cuisine at an Italian themed potluck! What does that mean? Think pasta. Think pizza. Think salad. Think cheeses. Think tiramisu. Think fun and bring what you would like. We will gather on February 19th at 4:30 and eat at 5:00. Vieni al tavolo! (Come to the table!) There will be a suggested donation box available. The Kettle Moraine Blues will return for after dinner music. We have always enjoyed their performance and know this time will be equally as enjoyable. They will bring their own donation box. Sign up at the Community Center.

Tallgrass presentation in the Community Center

A representative from Tallgrass Restoration LLC, who maintains our ponds and open areas, will meet with PV residents in the Community Center on Friday, February 20th at 1:00 p.m. They will discuss their activity here in Prairie Village and answer any questions you may have. All are encouraged to attend.

Trickery

Mother nature plays tricks.
Her sense of humor, obvious.
January weather
in mid-December,
April in early January.

The trees know to wait and the melting snow doesn't care.
It all balances itself out in the end.
She doesn't fool anyone.

2/26 Gerry Bertsch

January 2026 Prairie Village Library, Etc. Update

Library News

Please check the "new to us" books on the countertop in the corner by the Fiction bookshelves, when you're looking for your next great read.

Our Christmas collection seems to have been well used again this year. Please remember those books are available year-round. They're kept in the cabinet over the "new to us" books.

Books (fiction, mystery-thrillers, and non-fiction, "People") are always welcome. Please leave in the cooler on my porch – 881 BOT. Puzzle donations can be left in the Libra

What Did You Think of That Book?

Several weeks ago, our neighbor Edie Gilbertson told me she'd just returned a book that she wanted to tell somebody not to read! That led me to create an opportunity for us to share our thoughts about the books we've read (or maybe not finished). That opportunity takes the form of the large clip board you may have already seen on the Library table. I've done a few entries – just to give you an idea of how this works for me. Your ideas may be different. The point is to take a few minutes to note the title, author, and what you liked or didn't like about the book-and anything else. Would you recommend it? Please note if you found it in our Library or elsewhere.

ETC

Whatever prescription bottles you leave in my porch cooler are recycled to Rock County Health Net.

Get as many birthday cards as you need for 2026 and beyond – any quantity, any donation is welcome. Please remember to pay!!! Thanks for supporting Friends of Fairhaven/Mini Mart.

Food donations to the Community Space are always welcome. They can be left in the box in the Library, in the cooler on my porch, or call me for pick up.

Questions/suggestions, please ask - Kathy Ross

Let's Look at the Recent Massive Winter Storm of Jan 23-26, 2026*Key Points:

- This storm was predicted, in general, roughly a week in advance.
- Meteorologists saw this storm had the potential for:
  1. Extremely cold temperatures in the northern Plains states into the Great Lakes Region,
  2. A swath of heavy snow accumulations in the nation's midsection from New Mexico and Oklahoma to the New England states,
  3. A band of sleet accumulations south of the snow area,
  4. A corridor of freezing rain (ice storm) south of the sleet area,
  5. Showers/thunderstorms over parts of the Gulf States with some severe weather.

Here's a map showing the extent of the winter storm. The map doesn't show which locations in the Midwest experienced extreme cold conditions.

The ice storm aspects of this massive Jan 23-26th weather system can potentially be more crippling and longer lasting than the frigid temperatures, snow and severe weather.

Key Points of Ice Storms:

- Freezing rain can accumulate to a depth of 1/8 to 2 inches or more on road surfaces, trees and other objects,
- Powerlines can break due to the weight of ice accumulations and/or wind gusts or fallen trees,

- Road surfaces become ice-skating rings resulting in closed roads and tremendous numbers of vehicle accidents,
- Numerous roads can be closed due to debris from fallen trees, powerlines and other objects,
- Due to the widespread nature of ice storms our utility companies may be unable to restore power to all affected areas for several days up to a week or so,
- If you live in an area that experiences power outages you may want to purchase a backup power generator. They can operate on natural gas or other fuels.

Ice storms result from freezing rain accumulations. This requires the ground and air temperatures in the lower atmosphere to be at or below freezing (32F). Obviously, we need rain to be falling from the clouds. In these situations we have warm moist air from the Gulf of America flowing north over shallow cold air pushing south out of Canada. If the warm, moist air is warm enough and deep enough it can melt the snow falling from the clouds. Remember, nearly all our precipitation, outside of the tropics, starts off as ice crystals and snow...year-round!

Below is an idealized graphic of how different types of precipitation occur at the ground depending on depth of the warm air moving north.

In this graphic the warm, moist air is moving left to right, toward the north. For sleet to occur at the ground we need the warm, moist air to melt the falling snow, but the depth of the cold air in the lower atmosphere is sufficient to refreeze the rain drops into small ice pellets called "sleet."

Below is an image from Mississippi showing removal of debris from roads. Ouch!
